

HOW MANY CAN YOU TAKE?

One ring. Two fighters. Open palm. Get slapped, stay on your feet, and slap back. The challengers keep coming, each tougher than the last. Every survived round increases the multiplier and leaves a mark on your face. The question is: will you stand after the next slap?

GAME FEATURES

SLAP OR CASH OUT

Every press of SLAP is one exchange. The rival swings first and your fighter takes it. Survive, and he swings back, knocks the rival out cold and the cash-out multiplier climbs to the next rung. Get knocked out and the stake is gone. CASH OUT banks the current multiplier at any point after the first exchange.

PICK YOUR FIGHTER & CLIMB THE LADDER

Your difficulty is your fighter. Each one climbs his own ladder of eight rungs, one per rival: the harder the tier, the more every rung pays and the less likely you are to stay on your feet.

EIGHT RIVALS

A world tour in one cage, one rival per rung, in this order. Every rival goes down in one hit, and the next challenger steps in fresh while your man keeps every mark.

EVERY SLAP LEAVES A MARK

Your fighter's face tells the story of the fight: five damage stages, from clean to wrecked. Deep in the climb the action drops into slow motion, exchanges hang in the balance, and the crowd and the commentators react to every knockdown, knockout and cash-out.

TOP OF THE LADDER

Survive the eighth rival and the fight ends on its own: the top multiplier is banked automatically.
